HOW WOMEN RAISED MONEY.

With Mrs. Caroline Craven, President, and Miss Joanna Hobensack, secretary, Churchville W. C. T. U. convened at the home of Mrs. and Mrs. Joseph Thorn, April 1st, and after devotions and business, the various ladies present told how they earned a special dollar for the treasury. Although all of the 32 members do not contribute to this fund, it is thought to be a good and fair a manner of increasing the finances as resorted to by churches or other organizations. As in all money making schemes, only a portion do the work and bear the responsibility, and by this plan the work can be done at home.

One woman had sold butter-milk; another candy; one helped with the butchering; another sold chairs; and another added canned strawberries, one not being able to find a man to do the job, mounted a ladder and whitewashed her house. Then in poetic metre told of her success. One simply "saved it," another always lays by two cents a week and has her money without extra effort, and another paped her room. One contributed 50 cents, her collection saved from a meeting she could not attend. Readings showing the growth of total abstinence sentiment in Germany and the U. S. and the power of cheerful ness were given by Mrs. Ida Long, Emilie Hart, Emilie Yerkes and M. A. Lewis.

The May meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Long, at Holland, will be a newer mission meeting and is always a happy occasion.

Delegates have been appointed to the County W. C. T. U. convention at Langhorne on Saturday, April fifteenth.

MUST CARRY OUT WOMAN'S INSTRUCTIONS GIVEN IN WILL

The vestry of St. James' Episcopal church at Evansburg must erect an iron fence instead of building a stone wall. When Mrs. Anna R. Pugh died, she left $10,000 to the church for the purpose of erecting a fence five feet high about the church and cemetery. The vestry decided that the fence was not up to date and wanted to erect a stone wall instead. Judge Solly at Norristown, however, in an opinion handed down Tuesday says that the fence must be erected.

Mrs. James Craig of Fort Washington is able to be out, after a month's illness.

Mrs. W. W. Youcum has returned to her home, at Wheelump, after being under treatment at the Polyclinic Hospital, Philadelphia, for the past eight weeks.

Mrs. J. Grace, of Wheelump, has been removed to the Norristown hospital for treatment, suffering from a fatal aberration. Mrs. Grace has been one of the cashiers at Chestnut Hill park for a number of years.

Mrs. Elizabeth Dutot, of Honolulu, Hawaii, who has spent the winter with her friend, Miss Mary L. Cook, of Ambler, left for New York City last Monday in order to take three months post-graduate work at Bellevue hospital. She expects later to establish a first class hospital at Honolulu.

Ten girls dressed in white burned a mortgage Sunday which freed from debt the Free Baptist church, West Conshohocken. Children set fire to candles to the paper suspended by a string from the ceiling of the church. The ashes were caught on a silver plate by the pastor, the Rev. W. H. Garman and scattered to the winds.

The will of Hannah Weber, late of Norristown, has been admitted to probate. Deceased directs that her estate is to be divided into 10 parts and each child is to receive one-tenth part. No bequest is made to the 11th child, Mrs. Ella Beldier, the testator stating that she had already received her share and that she is omitted in the bequests not because she is disinherited. The will which was written on September 8, 1907, names William H. Weber executor.

MONUMENT FOR DR. TENNENT.

A movement has been started to erect a monument to William Tennent, famous as the founder of the Log College, Hartsville. The noted first churchman had four sons, all of whom were eminent Presbyterian ministers. The Log College, which though only 20 by 15 feet, was the first institution of the kind for training ministers for missionary work, and was attended by many men who afterwards became famous in the early history of the country.

TIMELY RECIPES

COFFEE CHARLOTTE.

The Charlotte is made with one-third of a cup of very strong, clear black coffee sweetened with one-third of a cup of sugar and mixed with cold with one cupful and a half of heavy, sweet cream. To this add one-third of a package of gelatine which has been soaked in one-third of a cup of cold water and melted over hot water. When the mixture begins to thicken add one teaspoonful of vanilla and whip slowly, but steadily until a mass of froth and cream. Turn into a wetted mold, set aside and when turned out serve with plain or whipped cream.

FRESH CREAM.

One-quarter of a cupful of butter with one cupful of sugar, add two eggs yolks beaten, one cupful of milk, three cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of vanilla, half a teaspoonful of cinnamon, quarter teaspoonful of nutmeg; fold in the three egg whites beaten stiff and beat four enough to roll thin; cut in oblong squares; cut four gashes through the centre lengthwise, run fingers in and out of gashes to separate; fry in deep hot fat and roll in powdered sugar.

PLAIN COOKIES.

A good, everyday cookie. Cream together two cups sugar and one cup of butter (or half Taylor and half lard). Sift together three times seven cups of flour, three heaping teaspoonfuls of baking powder and half a teaspoonful of grated nutmeg. Beat two eggs until light and then beat them into a cupful of milk. Add the milk and egg mixture to the creamed butter and sugar and keep stirring in the flour until all has been well mixed. Take up a small portion of the dough at a time, knead slightly with floured hands and roll out in a sheet. Sprinkle with sugar, pass through rollers over lightly, cut and place in greased pans. Bake quickly in a hot oven.

MRS. BETZ WEDS AGAIN

Widow of Brewer Becomes Bride of John T. Taylor.

Mrs. Anna Helene von Beroldingen Betz, widow of the wealthy brewer, John P. Betz, Sr., was secretly married last Saturday afternoon to John T. Taylor, son of Superintendent of Police John B. Taylor, of Philadelphia, at the home of the Rev. C. E. Bronson, pastor of the West Hope Presbyterian church, Preston and Spruce streets, who performed the ceremony. The wedding was solemnized a few hours after Taylor had obtained a divorce from his first wife.

Mr. Taylor met Mrs. Betz about two months ago at the Charity ball at the Germania Liedertafel Society. Taylor and his bride left for Atlantic City immediately after the ceremony, returning to Philadelphia on Monday.

DOG GIVES ALARM OF FIRE

Meadowbrook Resident Finds Home

Ab blaze When Animal Barks.

The home of Robert Shackleton, at Meadowbrook, was damaged to the extent of several hundred dollars Sunday morning by fire. Mr. Shackleton was awakened by the barking of a pet dog.

He found the library in flames, and sent an alarm to the Pioneer Fire Company at Jenkintown and the Abington Fire Company at Abington. With the help of buckets of water, Mr. Shackleton checked the flames until the firemen arrived. The blaze was confined to the room, and is supposed to have started from a smoldering piece of wood between the rug and the fireplace. Although the walls of the house are covered with valuable pictures and it contains many valuable pieces of antique furniture, none of them were damaged.

SENT TO REFORMATORY

Two City Youths Stole Horse, Wagon,

Etc.

William Brady and John Brennan, pleaded guilty to the charges of larceny and burglary and were committed to the County Jail at Doylestown, last Saturday for sentence.

Daniel Rickert, of Pipersville, testified to the fact that the boys stole his horse and wagon.

The history of the case was told to the Court by District Attorney Ryan, after which the mothers of the boys were heard. Both declared not having any trouble with their boys although John Brady admitted that William did not work steady.

John Brennan told the court that they did not intend keeping the horse. The wagon and other things he said they had taken from his aunt, Mrs. Campbell. He declared he never stole before.

William Brady said that he never stole before. They came to this section to visit Brennan's aunt. He also said that their intention was to return Rickert's horse.

The Court sentenced the boys to the Huntingdon Reformatory for an indefinite period.

FREE ADVICE TO WOMEN

Women suffering from any form of illness are invited to promptly communicate with Mrs. Pinkham at Lynn, Mass. All letters are received, opened, read and answered by women. A woman can freely talk of her private illness to a woman; thus has been established this confidence between Mrs. Pinkham and the women of America which has never been broken. Never has she published a testimonial or used a letter without the written consent of the writer, and never has the Company allowed these confidential letters to get out of their possession, as the hundreds of thousands of them in their files will attest.

Out of the vast volume of experience which Mrs. Pinkham has to draw from, it is more than possible that she has gained the very knowledge needed in your case. She asks nothing in return except your good will, and her advice has helped thousands. Surely any woman, rich or poor, should be glad to take advantage of this generous offer of assistance. Address Mrs. Pinkham, care of Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

Every woman ought to have Lydia E. Pinkham's 80-page Text Book. It is not a book for general distribution, as it is too expensive. It is free and only obtainable by mail. Write for 't today.

HIGH PRESSURE DATE.

Men and women alike have to work constantly with brain and hand to hold their own nowadays. Never were the demands of business, the wants of the family, the requirements of society, the demands of the community, the gratifying effort to keep up with all these things, so common as they are, a weakened or debilitated condition of the nervous system, which results in dyspepsia, defective nutrition of both body and brain, and in extreme cases complete nervous prostration. It is clearly evident that what is needed is a tonic to sustain the system, give vigor and tone to the nerves, and keep the digestive and assimilative functions effective and active.

Knowledge, we should recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for this purpose. It acts on all the internal organs, builds up the whole system, and fits men and women for these high-pressure days.

HOW I WAS

CURED OF SCROFULA

"I was in a very bad condition with scrofulous swellings round my neck. It started with a bunch on the side of my neck and it kept growing until the whole side of my face was swollen.

"I had tried everything in the shape of medicines for five years. I had gone under an operation in one of the hospitals in Boston and had them cut out. I had thirty little tubular glands taken from back of my ear down my shoulder. After the cuts healed over they started to come again and worse than before.

"After suffering so much I thought I would try Pinkham's Blood Purifier and before I had taken two bottles there was a great change in the swellings. I continued its use and to-day I am a well woman Every word of this is true.

"I cannot speak too highly in praise of Pinkham's Blood Purifier."

Mrs. W. H. HAYNES, 38 Adams Avenue, Everett, Mass.

The tendency to Scrofula seems to be hereditary and it is hard to overcome. It may lie dormant for years, and then break out anew from time to time.

The only known remedy for Scrofula is to keep the blood pure and rich by the use of a good blood purifier. It may require long treatment, but Mrs. Haynes found that Pinkham's Blood Purifier cured her of this dreadful disease, after all other means had failed.

Pinkham's Blood Purifier is equally as good for all diseases emanating from impure, impoverished blood, and is the best Spring medicine known. People will find the Blood Purifier just as reliable a remedy as the women of the world have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Unequalled—satisfying and dependable.

JURY "FIXING" CASE GOES OVER

Cheltenham Man's Hearing is Postponed Until April 17.

Monday was the time set by the court at Norristown to hear the case of Harry Foll, of Cheltenham, who, at the last session of court, was accused by Lewis McCall, of Germantown, of having told him that he had fixed the jury in the case of George D. Stewart and others against John B. Stevenson, in which strip of land was involved, and thought "fixing" it ought to be worth $25. Foll was a member of the jury, and McCall was a witness for Stewart. When brought before the court at the time Foll denied he had told McCall anything of the kind.

Monday morning N. H. Lazere, attorney for McCall, stated that he was under the impression that the time for hearing was the first Monday in May, and he was not ready to go on. As Foll had his witnesses present the court heard a half dozen men who testified to his good character and then continued the case until April 17th.

Half the people who are trying to get into society should be arrested for counterfeiting.

"Lame Leg Well"

"I wish to say that I have used Sloan's Liniment on a lame leg that has given me much trouble for six months. It was so bad that I couldn't walk sometimes for a week. I tried doctors' medicine and had a rubber bandage for my leg, and bought everything that I heard of, but they all did me no good, until at last I was persuaded to try Sloan's Liniment. The first application helped it, and in two weeks my leg was well."—A. L. HUNTER, of Hunter, Ala.

TO PREVENT RADISHES FROM BECOMING WORMY.

One of the most serious and increasing pests in the State of Pennsylvania is the Root Maggot attacking radishes, turnips, cabbage and cauliflower. This larva or so-called worm is the young of a fly closely resembling the housefly. Many inquiries concerning it are received by Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, Harrisburg.

In reply to a recent letter from a prominent Berks county officer, saying, "Please let me know by return mail whether there is anything that will prevent early sown radishes from getting wormy?"

Professor Surface wrote as follows: "The best plan is to sprinkle turpentine and kerosene on sand, enough to give it a strong odor, and stir it up well in a bucket. Then sprinkle a little of this close to the roots of the radish plants, and on each side of them, shortly after the leaves commence to develop. It will be enough to drive away the flies which lay the eggs from which the maggots or worms hatch."

"If there is much rain after the application, it should be repeated again. The same treatment will keep the worms away from turnips, which for this purpose would be better planted in rows instead of sown broadcast. This will also facilitate cultivating them, which will give good returns in case of yield."

OAT SMUT AND POTATO SCAB.

Numerous questions continue to reach State Zoologist Surface, at Harrisburg, concerning the method of preventing loss by the two diseases known as Smut attacking oats and wheat, and Scab attacking potatoes. As the treatment for the two is the same, Professor Surface takes this opportunity to discuss these subjects in one article for the benefit of readers.

He says that these diseases are caused by minute germs, which will remain all winter in the soil, or in straw, or in seeds, or potatoes. The grower should understand that he can treat the seed oats, or seed wheat, or planting potatoes with a solution that will destroy the germs, but if he should plant these crops in soil that is already infected by the germs produced diseased crops during the previous year, the treatment before planting will not do much good, as the crops will be diseased from the germs which remained in the soil. Therefore it is necessary to plant in soil which was not infected by previously diseased crops of the same kind grown upon it. Also, as the smut germs of wheat and oats remain in the straw and in manure made by the use of straw, if it is not thoroughly composted or decomposed, there is liability of carrying the disease germs of wheat and oats smut to clean fields, by spreading the manure from such straw where these crops are to be grown the following season.

With proper precaution in planting grain or treating seed or potatoes, in ground that is not already infected, or being careful that the germs are not carried by the methods described above, the grower may be reasonably sure of producing crops that are free from the disease. Some remarkable and emphatic records of this kind have been made in this State during recent years. Correspondents have written to Doctor Surface, stating that these methods have resulted in good grain crops from them, while their neighbors, who have not treated their seeds, have found their crops suffering very considerable loss.

The treatment is as follows: Soak the seed or potatoes that are to be planted in a solution containing one-half pint of formalin of formaldehyde liquid in fifteen gallons of water, for about forty minutes. Then dry quickly, or before heating occurs, and especially avoid letting the seeds or potatoes stand long in closed vessels or tight bags while wet.

A good method of treating oats or wheat is to pile it or spread it on a clean barn floor, and sprinkle the dilute formalin solution over it, stirring it with a rake or shovel to insure the wetting of all the grains. Then spread them, and let the wind blow through the barn to dry it, stirring occasionally to promote drying. As soon as it is dry enough to be used in the drill without sticking together, it will do to plant, or if it can be dried quickly before the grains start to germinate, it can be held for later planting.

A good way to treat the potatoes is to put them into bags and dip them into barrels or the dilute solution, let ting them stand the required time, then empty them in a clean barn floor, and let them dry. Cut them either before or after soaking, and plant them as usual.

The Potato Scab makes pits or holes in the potatoes, which are often mistaken for worm holes, looking very much as though they had been bitten into by grub worms. It should be remembered that the germs of these diseases have been known to remain in the soil for five or six years. How much longer they will continue to infect the same soil is not known.

PURE BRED POULTRY

George W. Elkins Has Model Chicken
Farm in Abington—No Expense Spared.

George W. Elkins, of Orono, who takes an active hand in the management of the Polly Farms along Old York road, in Abington, is establishing a model chicken farm on part of the property.

Ten acres, upon which are built the most improved types of shelters and feeding spaces for the chickens, comprise the farm. It cost, in addition to the original purchase price of the land—some $25,000—the sum of $15,000 more.

The farm is under Mr. Elkins' personal supervision. Every detail of its management has been carefully planned. Richard Smith is the supervisor of the chicken farm.

The plant is built on a portion of the Ash property, which Mr. Elkins acquired recently. A unique idea of Mr. Elkins was to have his whole plant under one roof. Builders told him this was impracticable, but he succeeded in having his scheme carried out and it has proved extremely justifiable.

A building one-story in height, 20 feet wide and 498 feet long, was erected, facing the south. It was divided into 17 compartments, each capable of accommodating 125 chickens. At the western end of the house is a brooder, 115 by 20 feet, fitted up with 32 brooders and capable of caring for 1800 little chicks.

At the extreme northern end is a large colony house for setting hens. In this end also are the feed rooms, the heating plant and the incubator rooms. One long passageway runs the length of the whole house, and the entire plant is thus under one roof.

This simplifies construction, makes for economy and is a big saving of time in handling the chickens, besides being a sanitary arrangement.

With the large acreage at his disposal Mr. Elkins is not bothered with the question of runs. Five runs have been constructed, each about 30 by 250 feet. These have been set out in rye and grass and nearly 400 peach trees have been planted. Wire netting incloses the runs and the space provided is ample for each batch of 500 chickens.

Feeding troughs, nests, lots and all equipment is kept spotlessly clean. Here the personal supervision and care of Mr. Elkins is manifested almost daily. Mr. Elkins says he does not believe in feeding chickens prepared food, but that plenty of cornmeal, milk and bread, boiled, with tender green shoots of grass or rye is the best food.

Barred Rocks, Plymouth Rocks, White Leghorns and Indian Game are the varieties of pure-bred stock which are most in evidence at the farm now, which has been running smoothly on scientific principles for several months.

Mr. Elkins will raise nothing but the purest bred stock. No expense is spared to get the best.

DENIES CHELTENHAM LICENSE.

Judge Woad, at Norrlawton, on Friday refused a hotel license to John Mogerie, in the village of Cheltenham. The Judge said that the house was opposite a children's home, not on a regular street, but surrounded by vacant lots, was not in the business centre and did not possess any factor to attract the public for either meals, lodging or drink. Another hotel license refused was that of Harry W. Kepner, Pottstown.

THIEVES ABOUT.

While the attention of our station agent, Jenks T. Roberts, was taken elsewhere with his manifold duties, a box containing medicinal goods belonging to Mrs. Clark, was taken surreptitiously from the depot waiting room on Thursday and carried to an adjoining field where it was broken open and the contents removed. And later in the day a real estate office on the edge of the same tract of land was feloniously entered and rummaged for articles of value, a desk being broken open at the time. Mrs. Roberts was alone in the house at night, while Jenks was going to and from Philadelphia, and early in the evening her attention was attracted by the peculiar actions of "Prince," a very intelligent dog, who had mysteriously known by hundreds of grove people. The dog left the side of his mistress and with paws resting upon the large window, quietly indicated by the position of his ears, that something wrong was going on outside, and this he followed by sundry admonitory barks. It was afterwards found that there had been an endeavor made to pry open a stout blind. The house next to that of Mr. Roberts, owned by William Ashton, also received burglarious attention, but when William announced that he would shoot something full of holes there was a hurry in the getaway. The house of John Cornell, who lives over his grocery, was also entered and a sum of money removed from a pocket of his clothing during the same night.

Mrs. E. J. Patchell and family, of Bethayres, dined with Mrs. Schuyler on Sunday.

John Barber, of Bustleton, has been in town all week looking after his varied stock, seed and agricultural interests.

The beautiful language under the caption "After Winter Days are Gone," on the last page of your edition of the 1st instant, is well worth repeated reading. It truly covers every phase of animate and inanimate nature and should be preserved in the archives of one's literary treasures.

The health of Mrs. William Ashton is somewhat improved. Her attending physician has put her upon a strict diet for an indefinite period, rather than any particular medicinal treatment. What she will thrive most on, the doctors are the three basic necessities for many human ailments, namely: Fresh air, sunshine and cheerful company.

William H. Hard, of Chester, Robert S. Roberts, Germantown, and Charles E. Schuyler, Trevoze, appeared before general manager Angus T. Dice, at Reading, in the final hearing in regard to the readjustment of wages, pass privileges, etc., of the employees of the Philadelphia and Reading railway system. This was the second hearing of the general committee.

It now transpires that a corporation already owns six feet of both shores of the water at Nesquehanna Falls and vicinity, and a hitch has appeared in the preliminary proceedings for the sale of the park for the coming summer. Just why this legal obstacle did not appear earlier in the scheme, is what puzzles those who are watching the movements. The corporation avers that it does not care to yield on account of the rubbish which would find its way into the waters upon Saturdays, Sundays and other days when crowds would run into thousands.

Charles A. Dunk, formerly our justice of the peace, is having installed in his colonial mansion a modern system of water apparatus at a cost of six hundred dollars. During an evening spent at the "Squire's" house recently we were informed that the deed of the property goes back to 1887, and by a little process of retrospection one is reminded that it was not prior to that date so many months when William Penn came here from the unhappy court of James the Second to England. It is also a curious fact, well worth remembering at this time, that although James was fighting and warring over money he desired it to grant, and violating the Test act whenever he could, causing general discontent among his own people and alarm among the foreign diplomats, he was yet friendly.

William Penn. And upon Penn he showered many favors, for money of course, while upon Lord Fairfax he dealt the measure of disgrace and persecuted the Huguenots most shamefully. Indeed, as the magnifying lights of time are focused ever more powerfully upon those unfortunate subjects of England's King, the greatness of Penn's and his very remarkable achievements, looms before us like the brightness of the all-beholding sun.

It is possible for a man to be nobody's fool but his own.
